Auchenflower Holiday Cottage

Auchenflower Cottage is a traditional stone built detached holiday cottage with wonderful scenic views looking over the unspoilt countryside of South Ayrshire. Situated on a working beef and sheep farm, the cottage was the former Dairy House dating back to 1860. This location is ideal for country pursuits. It is close to the small friendly coastal village of Ballantrae with its good local amenities. There is a grocery shop with post office, hotel with restaurant, garden centre, Medical Practice, garage, tearoom and café.

The property sleeps 5. Within the self-catering cottage, we have 2 large bedrooms upstairs providing comfortable accommodation for our guests. One is a family room with double and single bed; the other is a twin room. Both rooms have hanging space, chest of drawers and shelving. On the ground floor there is an attractive large lounge leading from the entrance hallway. This has a feature fireplace, large window seat overlooking the country views, Sky television with video player as well as comfortable seating.

The holiday cottage has a large fully equipped kitchen with seating area, electric cooker, washing machine, fridge and microwave. All crockery and cutlery included. The bathroom is fully tiled with a power shower and shaver point. The back door area has hooks for outdoor clothing and space for wellies or walking boots. There is also a small utility room with tumble dryer and freezer. Outside, the large lawned area has garden seating, and a shed is available for storage of bikes, outdoor clothing, fishing rods etc. Oil fired central heating is provided throughout the cottage which is included in the price. Duvets, duvet covers, bed linen, towels and tea towels are again included in the rental price.
